

Newfoundland

thing to do in order to repair the evil that was done at San Francisco is to give the veto to the provinces.

I wish to pay a tribute to the hon. member for Bellechasse (Mr. Picard), who was a precursor. He was the first one to mention the union of Newfoundland with Canada. He did so years ago. He deserves a special tribute. I also want to pay a special tribute to Senator Neil McLean, who has been most interested in this matter.

That being said, let me say it is not Newfoundland that I desire in the first place to join Canada. As my hon. friends will remember, years ago I suggested in this house that as we have no tropical regions in this country, if the British empire were to be split into fragments, the fragments that should come to us were Bermuda, Nassau, Jamaica and Trinidad. Now that there is no longer any British empire—we have been told that we are in a commonwealth instead of an empire, and that O.B.E.'s and M.B.E.'s have no more meaning—I wish to belong to the empire of Canada which will, with glory, succeed the British empire. The leader of the opposition is in such a mood of Canadianism that he will be glad to see the British empire replaced by the empire of Canada.

Mr. Speaker: Is the house ready for the question?

Some hon. Members: Question.

The house divided on the amendment to the amendment (Mr. LaCroix) which was negatived on the following division:
