

Mr. Jones (Leeds and Grenville) said from calculations he had made, there would be only 280,000 acres left for settlement after providing the reserves. He dreaded the responsibility of sending an army.

Mr. White paired for, with Mr. Ross (Champlain) against the amendment.

Mr. Young explained that he could not vote for the whole of the resolutions of Hon. Mr. McDougall, although some of them he approved of. If there was any chance of their being carried, and therefore of their being considered and amended in Committee, he would vote for them; but as there was not he should not vote for them and thereby accept them in their entirety. He was still opposed to the Government scheme.

[Hon. Mr. Cameron—L'hon. M. Cameron.]

l'appuyer puisqu'il permet de régler la question en litige.

M. Jones (Leeds et Grenville) déclare que, selon ses calculs, il ne restera que 280,000 acres pour la colonisation, une fois les réserves satisfaites. Il appréhende la responsabilité d'envoyer une armée.

L'amendement de M. Mackenzie est mis aux voix et est rejeté par 95 voix contre 35.

M. White fait la paire avec l'honorable M. Ross (Champlain) contre l'amendement.

M. Young explique qu'il ne peut voter pour l'ensemble des résolutions de l'honorable M. McDougall bien qu'il soit d'accord avec certaines d'entre elles. S'il y a possibilité qu'elles soient approuvées et par conséquent, étudiées et amendées en Comité, il votera en leur faveur, mais il ne peut les appuyer comme telles et les accepter en bloc. Il est toujours contre le projet du Gouvernement.
