HBNSLEY.—Mr Speaker, I shall conclude the bound not be alarmed at taxes; it by would be no few remarks which I was making last evening when interest to the state of the state be sheaper in Canada than in this Island, if this be the Never in the history of this Island, since it became a case it cannot arise from the fact that higher duties are British Colony, has a subject of such consequence been paid on them there then in this Colony. But one of the submitted for the consideration of its Legislature. If we principal points to which 4 did not refer last night was are to view the proposition for a Upion of the British North military defences. The argument sdranced on this feature American Colonies as an optional one, which we may military defences. Lee argument suranced to unstenturely american Colomies as an optional one, which was you of the subject by those favorable to Union is that, in order reject without imperilling our position as a dependent to prepare for efficient military defence we require a jof the British Crown, I confess J cannot see in the terms central power. I, however, do not see the question in offered to us in the Report of the Quebec Conference that light. As long as we contribute our quota of men anything to induce us to close with the offer. If, on the and means, and the other Provinces do the same, I con-other hand, the choice is between a Union with the sister. sider it would be quite as efficient a method of providing Provinces and a severance of our allegiance to the Mother for debtoe as any organisation into which we could enter Country, I would may, let us be united, even at a scorifice. We set fold that the Gondral Government would takelof our local interests. But id one think the Latter we are not want as Goueral vorestment would takeled our beat interests. But do not hink that the latter could be the gederal revenue and provide anyt and no repaid no, although the advocates of the special multilary forces.
